- 1 - Introduction -

Codebreaker Codes for FE6 have been out almost since this game came out. However, nobody has actually bothered to make a Codebreaker codes faq here, so that's what I'm doing.

Anyway, I'm known as borkborkbork on the gamefaqs forums. I'm a newbie/wannabe gba code maker. But despite that, I can still make simple codebreaker codes. Most of these codes I made myself and the few that I didn't make have been credited in section 8.

I am not responsible for any damage done while you are using these codes. By using these, you are taking the risk and freely admit that you are responsible your actions. Although the codes _SHOULD_ work, there is a chance that I have made a typo and I would be happy for you to contact me and notify me about anything you want corrected.

----- - 3 - Notices for Codes - -----

Most of these codes were made during the battle preparation, though most of them will work in-battle. Using them in the battle preparation is the safest way, since if you manage to wreck something, a simple hard reset will cancel the codes' effects. In-battle, the game saves every change you make.

In some codes, there is a cluster of Xs. These tell you that these are to be replaced with some hexadecimal digits that are shown in the section 7 of this document.

In some codes, there is a cluster of #'s. These tell you to replace them with a hexadecimal number of your choice. The easiest way to do this is to open up the windows calculator, turn it to scientific, type in the number you want in decimal, then press the HEX radio button. The screen should show you the digits you need to input. In these codes, do not forget that most of the things in FE6 have caps. See Xsolaris's Average Stats Guide for these maximums. Exceeding these caps will probably glitch up your game.

Person Slots refer to the placement they are in on the battle preparation screen. The numbers go horizontally like this:

- 1 - 2 -
- 3 - 4 -
- 5 - 6 -
- 7 - 8 -

etc. To check these slots in battle, press R on Roy (who will be slot 1 unless you have edited it) and press DOWN. The game will now show slot 2. Keep pressing down to see the others in their orders of slots.

Please remember how codes work. A code will stay active until you turn it off. So if you make slot two a mage, turn the code of as soon as your finished, because if the characters change slots the next slot 2 will become a mage if the code is still active.

----- - 4 - Enabler Code - -----

As I mentioned before I'm only a newbie code maker, so I have no idea how to make an enabler code. This one here was from www.cmgsgccc.com, however, I don't know who made it there, if the creators want to contact me, I'll add them to the credit them appropriately.

To get the 2nd person , add 48 HEX to the address (1st part).
To get the 3rd person , add 96 HEX to the address.

Basically , find out what person slot the character is in, subtract it by 1.
Convert the answer to hexadecimal and multiply by 48 HEX. Then add it to a code's address and done. For example:

I have Noah in slot 12.
 $12 - 1 = 11$.
Converted to hex is B
 $B \times 48 = 318$

So to change anything in slot 12, you must add 318 HEX to the address. Let's change his class:

8202AB7C XXXX is the code for changing the class of person slot 1. the address is 8202AB7C.

$8202AB7C + 318 = 8202AE94$

8202AE94 will be the address for the new code. Let's make him a female mage, the code will be 8202AE94 A7F0.

There, done

*An altered form of GameFAQS' example on Contributor Central, but its just as valid.

- 10- Contact Information -

I can be contacted at borkey@gmail.com

However, with all the spam, viruses and trojans going about, it might be best if you asked for me in the GameFAQs FE6 Forums, seeing its almost empty.

If you do send an email to me, make sure you have this exact phrase in the subject or it will be thrown into my junk folder:

"FE6 Codebreaker Codes"

Fire Emblem: Fuuin no Tsurugi - Codebreaker Codes - Game Boy Advance - By bonk123, 2147GameF

Also say what the email deals with, eg - request, correction etc.
